THE FIRE LAST NIGHT.

The Fiend Revels Amidst Gils and Paints and Invades the Court Buildings—The County Court Cierk's Office and Probate Court Room Destroyed—Records Saved, Etc.

Between twelve and one o'clock last night the cry of fire! fire !! resounded near the corner of Second and Union streets, and in a few minutes a fierce burst of flame shot out from that portion of the court building on Second street occupied by Cole & Co.'s paint and oil establishment. It was not long before our splendid fire department appeared FOR SALE-A NEW Ston WHEELER & on the scene, with epizootic horses but firemen deserve the thanks of the comfirst-class firemen.

> commission merchants and dealers in produce, next door, No. 334, were damaged considerably by water and smoke. The firm was insured in the Hernando Insurance Company, of Memphis, for $2800, and this forenoon the company adjusted and paid up all losses, which cotton in good style. COUNTY REGISTER'S OFFICE. Mr. John Brown's Register's office, over Cele & Co., in front, suffered but little, except from smoke and water. The records of deeds were kept in a fire-proof vault on the same floor, and were received by P. J. Mulvihill, Representative elect; Colonel Somerville, Captain Ben Duncan and others. Mr. Mulvihill entered the office and worked for hours in removing the valuable records of deeds and mortgages amid the dense smoke that pervaded the building. Nothing lost or missing from this office.

COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE, in rear of the Register's office and above Cole & Co., was destroyed completely. The flames broke through the floor and consumed desks, chairs, counters, a large festival will close to-night at the Memlot of stationery, the records of mer-chants' tax bonds and license books, retail dealers' bonds record, acknowledgment docket, etc. The county records proper, which were kept in a fire-proof vault adjoining, were neither removed nor injured. The loss on furniture, stationery, etc., is estimated at $1000. No records were destroyed that cannot be replaced by duplicates in other county offices.

PROBATE COURT.

This room; adjoining the County Clerk's office, is a complete wreck; the fire from Cole & Co.'s store room breaking through the floor and consuming the benches, tables, judge's seat, rule and hearing dockets of court. Everything in the room was consumed. Damage done to furniture estimated at $500. No records of importance lost.

PRIVILEGE TAX COLLECTOR'S OFFICE. Captain Mathes' office was thoroughly drenched with water, and the fire broke through near the door. Deputy Clerk Harris broke the door in and entered. He saved the books and papers, furniture, etc. The damage done amounts to nothing. During the fire the books and papers of the Trustee's, Tax Collector's, County Court and other offices were removed and saved.

ORIGIN OF THE FIRE. Breaking out as it did in the cellar of Cole & Co., where oils were stored, it is believed to have originated in sponta- made in a morning paper that they made neous combustion, as no fires or lights any loss at the fire last night at the corwere used in that part of the building, and no one had access to the cellar last "Home" of New York is not the night. WHAT WE NEED.

It is clearly apparent now that we need a court house, where the public offices of the county can be located in safety. To keep invaluable records in a building occupied by merchants and dealers in inflammable materials is dangerous in the extreme. The destruction of the books and records in this building would entail untold loss and inconvenience on our people, and the fire last night is a warning suggesting some movement toward the erection of a cessity of the borrower and market value of County Court building as soon as possi-THANKS DUE.

THE RIVERS AND WEATHER. Saturday night the weather here sold, and at almost every city in the north the mercury was reported either below og a few degrees above zero, but yesterday a marked change was noticed, and at most places where the river had been closed, light rains or snow fell, and the weather moderated so that on the Ohio there were prospects of a speedy resumbtion of navigation. The low water above Cairo will preclude the possibility of large boats being leaded yet, and there were last night some indications of a cores at Horsetail. The streams below are all low; the Arkansas has not been so low in ten years, and White river is sixteen inches below the low water mark of last season. The weather today is mild and pleasant and business slightly improved.

The Phil Allin, St. Francis, Cheek and Forrest yesterday brought 432 bales of cotton about one-quarter of a trip for each boat. Each of them report the horse disease as the cause of the falling off in the cotton receipts, and say but few people are traveling. The LaBarge went down yesterday with 600 tons of freight for Vicksburg, that being the only departure. There were but two arrivals this morning. The Cleburne came up with 130 bales of cotton and 197 sucks of seed. The morning. The Cleburne came up with 130 bales of cotton and 197 sacks of seed. The Idlewild, from the Ohio, brought a light trip of furniture and produce. The Bismarck is reported double-tripping over Point Pleasant, where the Carrie V. Kounts is aground, and the James Howard and Glencoe laying above them. The Ames, with her two barges, worked over Reeve's and has gone on down.

The steamer Ida was four weeks making a control of the contr trip from New Orleans to Shreveport. In some places they found the water so low that her crew had to dig a channel with shovels, and then work the sand out from under the hull with hose attached to the force-pump. A A novel plan for getting over sandbars.

During the past season the Belle LaCrosse and Alex Mitchell each made twenty-one trips between St. Louis and St. Paul, which is three more trips than were made by any other boat. The Minneapolis is next, having made freight to Cincinnati and sent it back on the mall boat, and saved mon my by doing so. This a sethod is now being adopted by quite a numby ir of Ohio river boats who acci. dentally get on bo and stray loss of freight for Lou isville. The Courier of that city would obviat " this little difficulty by reducing the wharfsee on boats that stop there but a few hours to an amount equal to one-fifth of the boat's freight bills, and very wisely suggests that method to the General Coucell of that city.

The break is the Belle of Shreveport's hall begins at the bow, and is thought to go aft nearly to the middle hatches. At the time of the accident she was drawing five feet and under full headway, and when she hit the obstruction it raised her up nearly eighteen inches, and had her hull not been well made,
